What are the sustainable results we want for our 0-5 children & their families?

Desired Result(s):
Increase awareness of First 5 resources

Convener Name: Nicole Artim

Convener Phone #: (530) 637-4415

Convener Email: nica@infostations.com

Participants Names: Melanie Ward, Jill Harper, Wendi Milka, Paul McIntire, Al Millan, Gretchen Cypin

Strategies to achieve the result:

- Printed material (The problem with literature is that it can be quickly dated.)
- Sticker. Have merchants put a First 5 sticker on all cash registers (like MC/VISA) wherever food or child/family items are sold. Then have the directory of First 5 available at all locations.
- Bill Boards on freeways
- Public Access TV broadcast video (mentioned later)
- Radio public access?, commercials
- Video
- Create a video with 1 minute spots for each F5 collaborators/partners to create 1 hour of footage informing viewers about the individual programs. This video can be displayed in:
 - Doctors'/dentists' offices.
 - o All preschools and grades/levels school parent orientation
 - o (New) Mom's & Dad's groups in religious organizations
 - In home support groups
 - Libraries
 - o Gyms

Eventually, parents will have been exposed to this info repeatedly.

- Baby Show Large & Small:
 - Large: Create a convention-like environment regarding information for the 0-5 child and families
 - Have booths (all First 5 partners, for profit organizations who can act as sponsors and fund items for such an event, demonstrations, activities for children, etc.
 - The areas discussed for such events would be at the Galleria Mall and/or at the Fairgrounds during a big event like the Home Show

These areas draw hundreds/thousands of people and would create an opportunity for massive exposure.

Small: Create a core group of volunteers to create "First 5 Baby Show Parties" This is an opportunity for people to meet with their friends in a comfortable and casual setting to learn about the organizations and opportunities available to them as parents. Provide a "goodie bag for all participants (i.e. age appropriate menus, a book to read to your child, game to be played between parent & child, etc.) This would be likened to Mary Kay Make-up and Tupperware parties without the stigma of having to buy something. It would create/strengthen bonding between friends, be an avenue for parents to make new connections and be a support group where there perhaps was none. The volunteer could show the video (suggested above), review packet, and introduce themselves as a future contact, and book future parties thus furthering the awareness.

- Directory: Have a directory (with all F5 partners) handed out in all hospitals when a child is born (right along with how to get a SS# and birth certificate.) This directory should be available wherever the sticker (mentioned above) is located and the videotape is played.
- Got Milk? Print logo, website and basic info on milk cartons.
- Baby Registry "Register this!" Have any agency/organization affiliated with creating/organizing/maintaining/offering a baby registry give the expecting parent(s) information on F5.
- Diapers "Absorb this!" Have information on/in all diaper cartons.

Strengths/Assets to build on:

- Use existing organizations to have information about F5 partners display information
- Create bridges with for-profit organizations to assist in funding F5 program(s)
- Make use of high exposure areas rather than trying to create them fairgrounds, malls, special events.

New resources needed:

- Generic Video about F5 partners
- Directory about F5 partners

- Create a video and Service directory with F5 info on all the partners
- Create a sticker to put on cash registers
- Plan on a Baby Show combining the Health & Safety Fair, Spring Extravaganza (ask Wendi Milka), and the Outcome Faire.
- Change the name of "Outcome Faire" so that the general public is better aware of what is offered at this forum.

Strategies to achieve the result:

Assure that parents are aware of the value of the preschool experience. That all slots are used. Globally, (all parents) know what is needed for school success and age appropriate preparedness. What they need in terms of specific practices and expectations. Programs tailored to parent's needs, Community awareness and knowledge of the value of these practices. Hands on, home visits, FRC, WIC UCCE proven strategies to further incorporate, more modeling, more one on one. Integrate education and services, use existing agencies and avenues to deliver education, train trainers from the community, provide the venue to do all of these things (location), more case management models, follow the teen parent into their next transition, build bridges for parents, meeting parents where they are at, Build on family strengths, use bilingual staff, use focus groups to determine needs, use learner centered teaching strategies, build bridges between schools an preschools, use series of workshops like Off to a Good Start, Build parent support networks, teach what is 'normal' and age appropriate, relation support project, teach all domains not just cognitive (social emotional, problem solving, etc) early intervention, build strategies that show that it takes 8 adults to support a child.

Strengths/Assets to build on:

The collaboration we have, Off to a good start and Let's read together curricula, knowledge and passion of agencies, the success of current funded projects, home houses.

New resources needed:

Boot camp for dads, Family communications curriculum/Fred Rogers, more training resources

What can be done now to achieve the desired results:

Sharing resources, sharing information among agencies, helping supporting each other, bringing more people together to form more collaborations, regular sharing processes

Participants Names: Sharon Junge, Judy Moore, Jackie Kampp, Kirsten Collins, Pam Coligas, Caroline Hickson, Wendi Milka, Michele Fisch, Lisa Abrahams, Barbara Wilkinson

Strategies to achieve the result:

- Learner centered approach (experiential/hands-on).
- Workshops & trainings for parents, providers & the community.
- Agencies working together.
- Address all safety components (food safety, choking, physical activity safety issues, kitchen safety).
- Address needs of busy parents. Utilize volunteers & extenders. Emphasize simple things parents can do.
- Budgeting, shopping and planning skills.
- Build upon existing parental skills.

Strengths/Assets to build on:

- Agency knowledge, cooperation & experiences.
- Faith and ministry resources.
- Parent desire to provide for children & family.
- Existing tools (curriculum, resources, collaboration).
- Current project funding.
- Build upon the diverse strengths already possessed by families.

New resources needed:

- Funds.
- Train the trainer.
- Skilled staff.
- Volunteers.
- Community modeling good behavior and desired results (help change the culture surrounding food).
- Extending results beyond 5 years of age.
- More collaboration participation & support by the community as a whole.

- Continue sharing & collaborating.
- Look for ways to sustain (mini grants, skilled providers).
- Networking.
- Practice & model good nutrition, physical activity and safety behaviors.
- Build and maintain partnerships.

Report Form

What are the sustainable results we want for our 0-5 children & their families?

Desired Result(s): Have men included in more services, Agencies become more Father Friendly, A men's Strategy: Work, Violence, Play, Parenting, and Fatherhood.

Convener Name: Tammy Gilbert/ David Gray Phone #: 530-888-6625 Email: goldensierra@hotmail.com

Strategies to achieve the result:

- Take a look at violence and crime spilling over to women and girls
- Need more help for men "they have no where to go"
- More fathers are asking the courts for custody and more time with their kids
- Take a look a giving and implementing a new language (set of words) in dealing with kids
- Changing the societal view that only women should care for kids
- Services and Prevention strategy, sharing kids, no violence, ECE stuff
- Take a look at making Family separation easier for kids
- Need for Cultural Awareness for men, increase this in agencies
- Move from the Winners vs. Loser mentality to Strength and Weakness and shared parenting
- Need more support and consulting help for men and not just straight referrals to get rid of them
- Need for Father Friendly Agencies (Why not send Men to W.I.C.)
- Society has changed, agencies need to catch up
- Need better connections among agencies
- Take a look at more men working in child/family agencies and or volunteers
- Partnering with the Moms in M.I.C. (Mothers, Infants and Children) to get to the dads
- Add "Men" in agencies program names or at least include them somewhere
- Masculinity needs to be redefined and include traditional women's roles and be accepting to that.
- Training for men and women about these new roles. Include in established programs
- Format a contract with parents so that they would see their responsibility Maybe into court plan
- Use parent role Sharing language
- #1 ASK MEN WHAT THEY NEED, and not always tell them what to do
- Providers should take a look at re-evaluating their position and are they "Father Friendly"

Strengths/Assets to build on:

- M.I.C. (Men, Infants, and Children) program
- Awareness of the need for Father services
- Court/Family services (S.T.E.P) Facilitators

New resources needed:

- Common form:
- "Cafeteria Plan" with a need to know confidentiality agreement (Tammy Gilbert took responsibility to create for Prop 10.)
- Finding ways to get together to increase communication

What can be done now to achieve the desired result?

- Change the way we move people from one agency to another, referrals
- Be more open minded about the men and the role of the father
- Change program names to add men
- Develop male mentors, peer educators to help others get through the system
- Increase communication

OUTCOMES:

- Both parents empowered to balance responsibilities to find solutions
- Parents to have a long term support network that they themselves develop
- Parents will have an understanding that parenting is about shared roles, strengths and weaknesses that is not based on gender
- Have a better referral, follow-up and accountability between providers and partners
- A reduction in the competition between agencies, we all work with the same people
- Men will be involved as equals in parenting programs
- More services Specifically designed for men
- Healthy Children, Strong Family Functioning, Child Development
- Improved service system

Report Form

What are the sustainable results we want for our 0-5 children & their families?

Desired Result(s):

Increase access to courts for families needing restraining orders, custody and child support orders to ensure emotional and financial stability in the lives of children; and ensure that children and their parents are referred to appropriate service providers for their related but non-legal problems.

Convener Convener Convener Name: Diane Bras Phone #: 530-889-7406

Email: dbras@placerco.org

Participants Names: Fay Booth: Tom Grayson: Carol Johnson: Suzanne Feris: Cindy Hampton: Christine Trejo; Amy Rudd; Des Carrington; Frances Kearney; Diane Bras

Strategies to achieve the result:

Provide information about court process, including rights and responsibilities, in the clinic setting and also through outreach and education to other agencies that have contact with potential and current family law litigants. Identify other non-legal needs of litigants who appear at the clinic and refer them to other agencies who can provide needed services.

Strengths/Assets to build on:

The Facilitator's Office sees 4700 customer visits each year; about ½ of these are parents of 0-5 children. A friend referred about 30% of customers to the clinic, so the information is out there in the community that the clinic can provide this help. The Facilitator's Office is a neutral office and provides assistance to both parents equally. As a result, it is a fairly non-threatening place for parents to find out about other helping agencies—this increases willingness to actually access the needed services. The Facilitator's Office is a referral hub as it is frequently the first place that a family in need of help comes into contact with "the system."

New resources needed:

The Facilitator's Office is operating at near capacity for it's physical plant and until the South Placer Justice Center is built (estimated as late 2005) will not be able to use many volunteers to stretch its budget to provide service to more people. 1 or 2 additional paid staff would allow more satellite offices to be operated to reach customers with transportation problems. A videotape describing the services offered by various Prop 10 partners (and other agencies) that could be played in the waiting room of the Facilitator's Office would be very helpful; this could also be played in other locations and on Public Access TV. Need resources to provide quardianship services to grandparents seeking custody of their grandchildren.

What can be done now to achieve the desired result?

A cafeteria menu of services available from other Prop 10 partners would allow customers to identify the services they need without being put off by counterintuitive names of programs (e.g. WIC). Posters and fliers for law enforcement and other locations will tell people what services are available through the Facilitator's Office, reducing the number of people who come to the office and are turned away because their problems cannot be addressed by the Family Law Court (e.g. evictions). Trainings will continue to be provided to social workers and peace officers about the services available through the Facilitator's Office and how Family Court rules affect their work; also trainings to high school students about paternity and child support law (pregnancy prevention).

droenspie@placercoe.k12.ca.us

Participants Names: Gayle Kelley, Joan Childs, Francine Nunes, Jill Harper, Larry Fasig, Jeannette Lovejoy

Strategies to achieve the result:

- Offer Early Care and Education workshops,
- Continue accreditation and mentor programs,
- · Assess child care environments using the Family Day Care Rating Scale,
- Screen children enrolled in licensed family child care facilities using the Ages and Stages
 Questionnaires or similar screening tools to assess children's development,
- Provider site visits,
- Continue to provide needed materials to licensed facilities to improve environments for children in their care,
- Continue to reach out and serve the Spanish-speaking community,
- · Continue to add items that are culturally diverse,
- Address special needs and that are age appropriate,
- Continue to collaborate with First 5 partners and other community agencies.

Strengths/Assets to build on:

- Existing library,
- Partnerships,
- Early Care and Education Workshops,
- Additional outreach in the Tahoe area.
- Spanish speaking presenters,
- · Spanish resources,
- Training space,
- Trained staff

New resources needed:

- Additional resources in Spanish,
- Space to expand lending library i.e., Early Childhood Resource Center

- Utilize accredited family childcare providers as ambassadors of quality child care,
- Continue partnering with the Family Child Care Association to provide training opportunities.
